Service is much more than a catch word around Professional Cleaning Systems, we are the real deal. Our factory trained mechanics will repair your equipment in house or on site. We offer cost effective scheduled maintenance and repair contracts for pressure washers, and pollution prevention equipment. The staff of Professional Cleaning Systems does it all, from assembly and testing of new equipment to training your staff on how to properly use the equipment safely and efficiently.

Here at Professional Cleaning Systems our factory trained sales staff goes out of their way to ask the right questions and listen to your concerns. Our customers will always receive the right equipment and service the first time around. We can provide equipment layout and construction drawings to assist you in planning a system for your facility whether it's a wash pad or just choosing the correct pressure washer or air compressor for your application. Professional Cleaning Systems' experience with the many types of applications and processes is priceless.

We provide assistance for purchasing agents in specification writing, bidding just got easier. Professional Cleaning Systems will work with your architects and engineers on equipment selection and placement that will serve your needs as well as meeting the parameters to operate at peak performance. Also, we work with the regulatory agencies to assure them that safety and environmental issues on the equipment you are purchasing is built to meet or exceed the highest standards.

The equipment records we keep, insure that we will always know what equipment you purchased from Professional Cleaning Systems including the make, model, and serial number as well as a back up manual in case yours is lost or destroyed. This service alone has saved our customers thousands of dollars in untold aggravation in the event of a loss. Our record keeping system reminds you when equipment needs to be serviced.

Professional Cleaning Systems fleet of fully stocked service trucks helps insure customers will have the parts needed to repair your equipment. The Parts Department is so well stocked; you will find we have parts for most makes and models, even if we didn't sell the unit. Now that's what we call service here at Professional Cleaning Systems.
